

Destination UNKNOWN

Championing the rights of children on the move

Virtual launch of new Guidelines on narratives

'Stories shape societies': Creating new hope-based narratives about children, young people and migration.

Monday 29 March 2021
12:00 – 13:00 GMT*

Destination Unknown is a network of largely local and national organisations and individuals, including young people, united to campaign for the rights of children and young people on the move to be upheld and protected. It is led by Terre des Hommes International Federation.

Destination Unknown recently launched a new initiative to play a role in influencing a change in the narrative on migration and a shift to a more hopeful and positive narrative around children and young people on the move. The new initiative aims to create more space for children and young people to speak, and to promote narratives that create understanding, empathy and belief in the possibility of change.

As a campaigning network, we aim to cultivate hope and empathy among the readers of our communications. By creating hope and empathy, we want people to visualise the opportunity and the real possibility for positive change in the lives of children and youth on the move and for building inclusive and sustainable democratic societies. We are doing this with children and young people from our youth networks and with other organisations working with and for children and youth on the move.

On 29 March 2021, Destination Unknown will launch new Communication Guidelines, to support and inspire civil society organisations, policymakers, the media, and all individuals working with and communicating about children and young people in migration, and to influence a shift to more hopeful and positive narratives.
